

Mathilda Beraha's Cousin

This is a cousin of my mother and I think the photo was taken in the USA, that is why it says something Avenue, on the back of the picture.

This guy went to the USA and he sent us a picture of himself with the army uniform too.

Probably life was very hard for him and so he decided to join the US Army voluntarily. We must have a picture of him with the uniform.

I don't remember his name but I know he is from the Saltiel side of the family.

My grandmother Ester Saporta, nee Saltiel, was the most religious of all of us; she would take me to the synagogue every Friday to light a candle.
