

Marcel Margulius

This here is Marcel - or Lica, as he was called in the family - Margulius, the son of Isidor Margulius, my maternal grandmother's, Feiga Herscovici's brother. Marcel was in the army during World War I, he studied at Belle Arte in Paris and was a captain and a physician at the railway company here. Unfortunately he died relatively young, before he turned 50, in 1947.
