

Anna Ulik's Father, Iosif Davidovich Ulik

My father, Iosif Davidovich Ulik, after completion of a four-year college. The photo was made in 1913 in Zhitomir.

My father's name was Iosif Davidovich Ulik. He was born in March 1895. My father was born in Zhitomir. He had a large family. He paid a lot of attention to his studies. He also studied music. He went to Kharkov on his own to finish his musical education, simultaneously finishing secondary school. He began to work very early. He worked in various symphonic orchestras, and then he held many administrative offices in Kiev, starting with 1926. All his offices were related to the cultural formation of Kiev and Ukraine. He worked at the Ivan Franko Theater, in the Opera Theater, was vice director of the philharmonic society, and at the "Ukrainian Concert" company. He came from an ordinary family. His mother was a seamstress and father - a cabinetmaker.

Father died in Kharkov in 1950.
